

Teambuilding, leadership training available at Teton Mountain Lodge business retreats

Partnership with Grand Dynamics yields ideal location for corporate training

TETON VILLAGE, Wyo. Planning a business or corporate retreat in Jackson Hole – one led by nationally recognized trainers who specialize in fostering teamwork and leadership – just got easier thanks to a partnership between the new Teton Mountain Lodge and Grand Dynamics, a leader in business training and development.

For managers seeking a way to motivate their employees and help them build relationships that foster strong teamwork, the agreement yields a package of services based on excellent indoor and outdoor amenities and world-class corporate trainers.

The Teton Mountain Lodge, Jackson Hole's newest luxury condo-hotel, offers 2,200 square feet of modern meeting and event space along with top-tier service, dining and accommodations. The Lodge is also situated for walking-distance access to the ultimate outdoor classroom – the Teton Mountain Range. From the Lodge, guests can participate in activities ranging from hiking, rock climbing, skiing and snowboarding to mountain biking, whitewater rafting, horseback riding and fishing.

Grand Dynamics, which specializes in business and corporate development through experiential and action-based exercises, structures programs that are tailored to an individual organization's goals. Since Grand Dynamics often combines outdoor training such as orienteering, mountain travel or whitewater rafting with indoor teamwork sessions, the recently constructed Lodge located slopeside at the Jackson Hole Mountain Resort makes the perfect venue.

The Teton Mountain Lodge's meeting facilities include large and mid-size event rooms, as well as a corporate boardroom. In addition, all the appropriate amenities are available – excellent dining and catering, professional service, high-speed Internet access, and organizers who can arrange for all the requisite equipment. As for accommodations, the Teton Mountain Lodge is a condo-hotel, which offers guests the convenience, intimate ambiance and value of staying in a turn-key condo as well as the superior services and amenities of a luxury hotel.

“For the Lodge, hosting business clients means providing the best possible guest service, and part of that formula is making it easy for groups who desire excellent professional training to access that training. So when you consider the service that Grand Dynamics provides and the clients they've served, it was a natural to partner with them,” said Teton Mountain Lodge General Manager Jeff Ward.

Headquartered in Jackson Hole with offices in Arizona and Maryland, Grand Dynamics customizes corporate retreats, teamwork and leadership training sessions, business consulting, and health and wellness clinics for a wide range of business types. Grand Dynamics has worked with corporate clients that include Microsoft, MCI Telecommunications, The Minutemaids Company, and Patagonia.
